I. SIGNIFICANT ITEMS:

On 13-14 July the newly constituted Editorial Board for the Studies in Intelligence met at [redacted]

W
C

Action was taken on major agenda items. The new statement of aims and objectives of the Studies was read, amended, and approved. It was decided that it would be appropriate to have Mr. Dullen invite members of the intelligence community to participate in the Studies by making contributions to them; not, however, by becoming members of the Editorial Board. It was decided that, security permitting, each issue should be classified and bound in such a way that the unclassified articles could be removed and handled separately. Operating procedures were agreed upon. Finally, eighteen manuscripts were read. Nine of these were accepted, subject to editorial revision; and nine were rejected.

25X1

The logistical arrangements for the Board were excellent, and the entire staff at [redacted] outdid themselves in making the meeting successful and pleasant.

II. OTHER ACTIVITIESA. OTR Orientation Officer

25X1

(1) The CIA Introduction was conducted on 15 July for [redacted] people.

W

(2) On 11 July the FSO Briefing was conducted for 65 people. At the request of the Foreign Service Institute, the June and July classes were combined.

(3) A two-hour lecture and discussion period on "CIA, the IAC, and the NSC Today" was given at the Strategic Intelligence School on 10 July. The audience attending this two-week summer course consisted of reserve military intelligence personnel from all over the country.

G. [ ] returned from military leave on 16 July.

H. The operation on [ ] eye was a complete success.
He returned to duty 15 July.

25X1

I. A review of leave balances indicates that leave in the Intelligence School is generally being taken in appropriate amounts, except in Clerical Training, where annual leave balances are high for several individuals. In view of the large numbers of clerical trainees on hand, substantial amounts of leave cannot be granted to these staff members before 15 September at the earliest.
